A DOGGON THIEVING TRICK.

Picnickers Are Annoyed By Cunning Canines on One Side of Park and Obstreperous Biped on the Other Side.

The "Inter Se" society held a picnic at Wishaw Park last Friday and just before supper was ready Mr. Ante Bellum Weed, (the local photographer), called all to upper side of park to have their pictures taken. Just as he was about to tell them to watch for the "glna vogel" Mrs. McKay exclaimed: "The dog, the dog." We all looked and lo! and behold, a black canine of uncertain ancestry and full of fleas and wanting to be full of meat loaf, was on one of the tables carefully investigating for the most delicious piece. Mrs. McKay made a Marathon run and drove the dog away. When she returned out of breath she said that was a "doggone." Just then we were again told to watch for the "glna vogel." After the pictures were taken some of the women happened to think of the ice cream and went to the other side of the park where it was left unguarded and the next voice from the women was, "Oh, our ice cream is gone." The men were called to see what was best to do. They all responded and started through the woods. Mr. Hoover found it a few rods from the park. Some of the women thought it was one of Weed's tricks. When you go to Wishaw leave your eye teeth at home. ONE OF THEM.

Installing Air Compressor.

The Reynoldsville Water Company is sparing no expense to give our town one of the best water systems in this section of the state. This spring the company laid over five thousand and six hundred feet of new water lines, most of which was six inch pipe.

This week the company will put men at work on the foundation for an air compressor at the power house. The compressor and expense of putting it in will cost the water company at least $1,500. Where water companies are using the air compressors they find that it is well worth the price. This new machinery will make the water system first class. With a good system and excellent water we ought to be comparatively happy. There are many places where pure water is almost out of the question.

Horse Dropped Dead.

About one o'clock Sunday night a valuable gray horse, owned by John Shobert, of near Brookville, dropped dead going up the hill in West Reynoldsville. Mr. Shobert and several others were returning from the huckleberry mountains. Mr. Shobert didn't know his horse was sick. Heart trouble caused its death. The horse weighed fourteen hundred. Mr. Shobert got a horse from Burns' livery stable to make the trip home.

Arm Burned with Benzene.

Naomi Copping, daughter of Harry Copping, had her right arm badly burned last Wednesday and had it not been for the timely appearance of her cousin, Bert Hoffman, Naomi might have been fatally burned. She and several other children were in the rear of the Nolan block where a lad was playing with benzene on a cat-o-nine-tails and as the boy ran past Naomi her dress sleeve caught fire and just then Bert Hoffman came around the corner of building with a cake of ice. He dropped the ice, caught Naomi and extinguished the blaze before anything more serious than a burned arm and hair scorching took place.

BODY CREMATED.

Ashes Shipped Here By Express and Buried in Prospect Yesterday.

Washington Rhoads, who resided in Reynoldsville over a half century ago, an uncle of Jerry Heckman, Crant Rhoads, and several other citizens, died at Santa Cruz, Cal., July 8. The body was cremated and the ashes were shipped to Reynoldsville by Adams Express to Jerry Heckman, and yesterday the little box containing the ashes was placed in the grave of Mr. Rhoad's mother in Prospect cemetery. This was Mr. Rhoad's request before he died. The box in which ashes were shipped was copper and it was inside of a wooden box. The box was 6 inches long, 5 inches wide and 4 inches deep. From the Santa Cruz Surf of July 9, 1909, we clip the following sketch of Mr. Rhoad's life:

Washington Rhoads, an old and respected citizen of Santa Cruz, passed away July 8, having lived here twenty-four years the 4th of this month. He came to California first in 1854. When the war broke out he went to Pennsylvania, his native state, and enlisted in Co. H, 105th Pennsylvania Volunteers. He served three years, and was badly wounded at Gettysburg. He was discharged at Philadelphia Hospital and came back to California after the war, following prospecting, mining and farming in different parts of the state. July 3, 1885, he camped seven miles out from Capitola, where two inches of snow fell during the night. July 4, 1885, he came here, where has lived ever since. He lived a retired life, respected by all who knew him.

ORDINANCE NOT VALID.

Dog Police Has Lost His Job—Ordinance Never Signed.

The dog ordinance passed by council several years ago compelling owners of dogs to muzzle their dogs during the months of July and August of each year and to wear a collar on dog with owners name thereon, and a dog tax, all the year, has been found to be illegal because the ordinance was not signed by the Chief Burgess. On account of the ordinance not being valid Mayor Williams had to discharge the dog police. We understand that there are several other municipal laws that were never signed by the Chief Burgess and like the dog ordinance are not valid.
